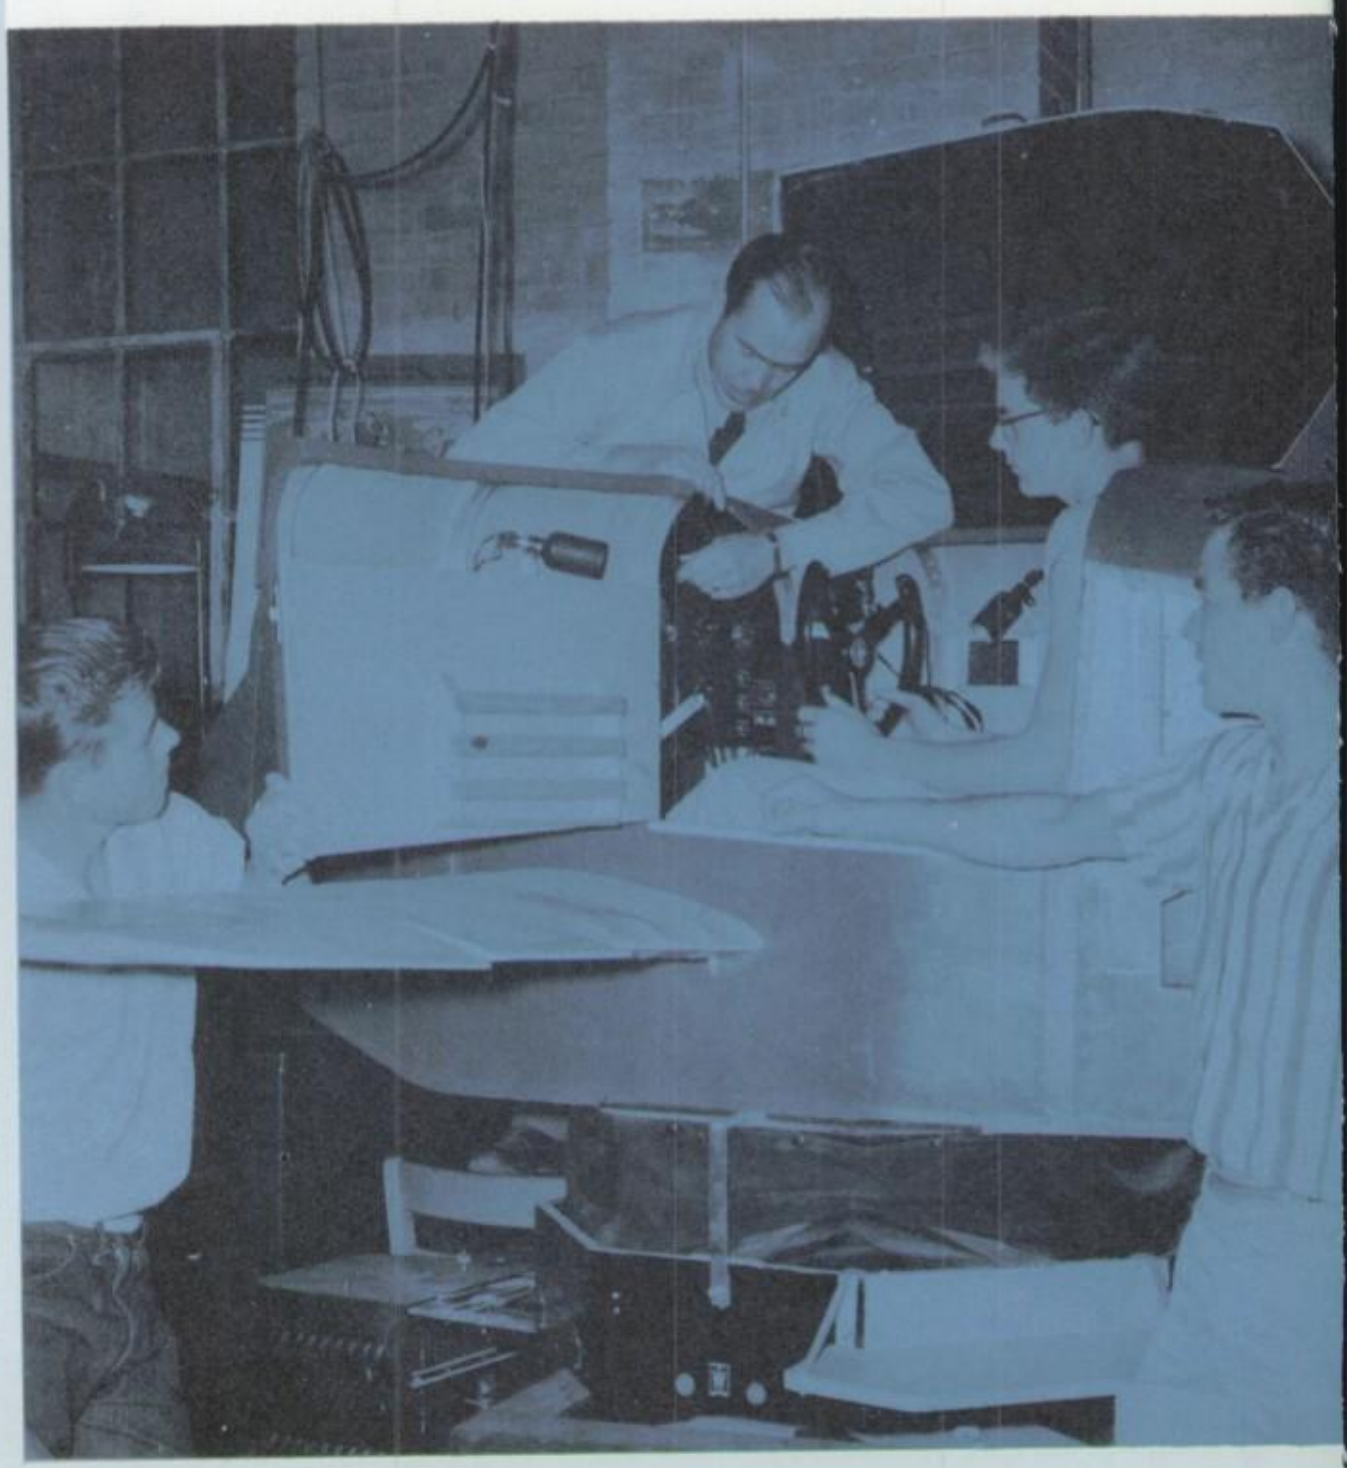
We felt mature as we tested our wings. We had learned the importance of good teacher-pupil relationship. A great deal of knowledge and attitudes had been assimilated. Give and take had become a graceful part of us. With soaring hopes we had launched into career planning. With trembling pinions we asked, "Are we ready?"



From class and campus

We learned the advantages of teamwork. Challenges called, and we echoed back our answers, collectively and individually. Although each of us grew in his own pattern, he sought approval from the group. We were clannish, liked crowds, revered traditions, and followed fads.

We had favorites. We liked "Marianne," sung by Belafonte; chubbies at the Center, underslungs; and noontime gab-fests. Boy-girl relationships often became dominating interests. We saw the importance of cultivating enjoyable personalities, which helped us gain lasting friendships.

Hi Curt.
Have a real swell summer
& I'll see ya next year.

Superintendent Beckstead

Through a variety of high school activities, we form friendships and associations which enrich both the quantity and quality of the selections with which we fill our album of "Medley of Memories." Soothing friendships, inspiring growth from the acquisition of skills and abilities, sports and assemblies, and lively conversations in the halls will all be part of the colorful recollections. The memories, which are now a part of the history and traditions of Jordan, will tend to be more significant as greater medleys unfold in the drama of life.

It is my wish that "Medley of Memories" will stimulate students of Jordan High School to achieve a symphony of success and happiness.

Sincerely,

Reed H. Beckstead

Howard W. Jorgensen
Assistant Superintendent

New assignments came this year after the death of Superintendent Arthur E. Peterson. The board of education advanced Mr. Beckstead into the vacancy. Former Bingham High School principal H. W. Jorgensen was elected as the new assistant. The superintendents worked directly with the district personnel in administering school policies.

Board of Education

It was the board's monumental task of maintaining unison and balance within the district's twenty-three schools. Jordan High was a topic heatedly discussed as the board decided to send students from the west side of the valley to Bingham. A decision to remodel the forty-three year old Jordan High was rescinded. Many expect a new school to be built. The baton is raised, but the theme hasn't been chosen.

I hope this has been a most happy and successful year for every student and every faculty member. Our student body organization has functioned admirably, and the report of our school activities by the students has been most gratifying. However, there is a feeling of sadness because a segment of our student body will not be with us next year. Students from Riverton and West Jordan Junior Highs will be greatly missed. Our loss will be Bingham's gain, and as the Miners will be a Class A school next year, we will still associate with them in all of our school activities.

So students, parting and returning, my most hearty wish for your happiness and success is hidden in the pages of this yearbook.

T. H. McMullin

Records of students and classes were compiled by registrar Mr. Goldbranson, while roving pupils who skipped classes were sought out by Mr. Taylor. Counselors Mr. Casper and Mrs. Wood gave advice to students and guided them as they anticipated going to college or immediately entering a vocation.

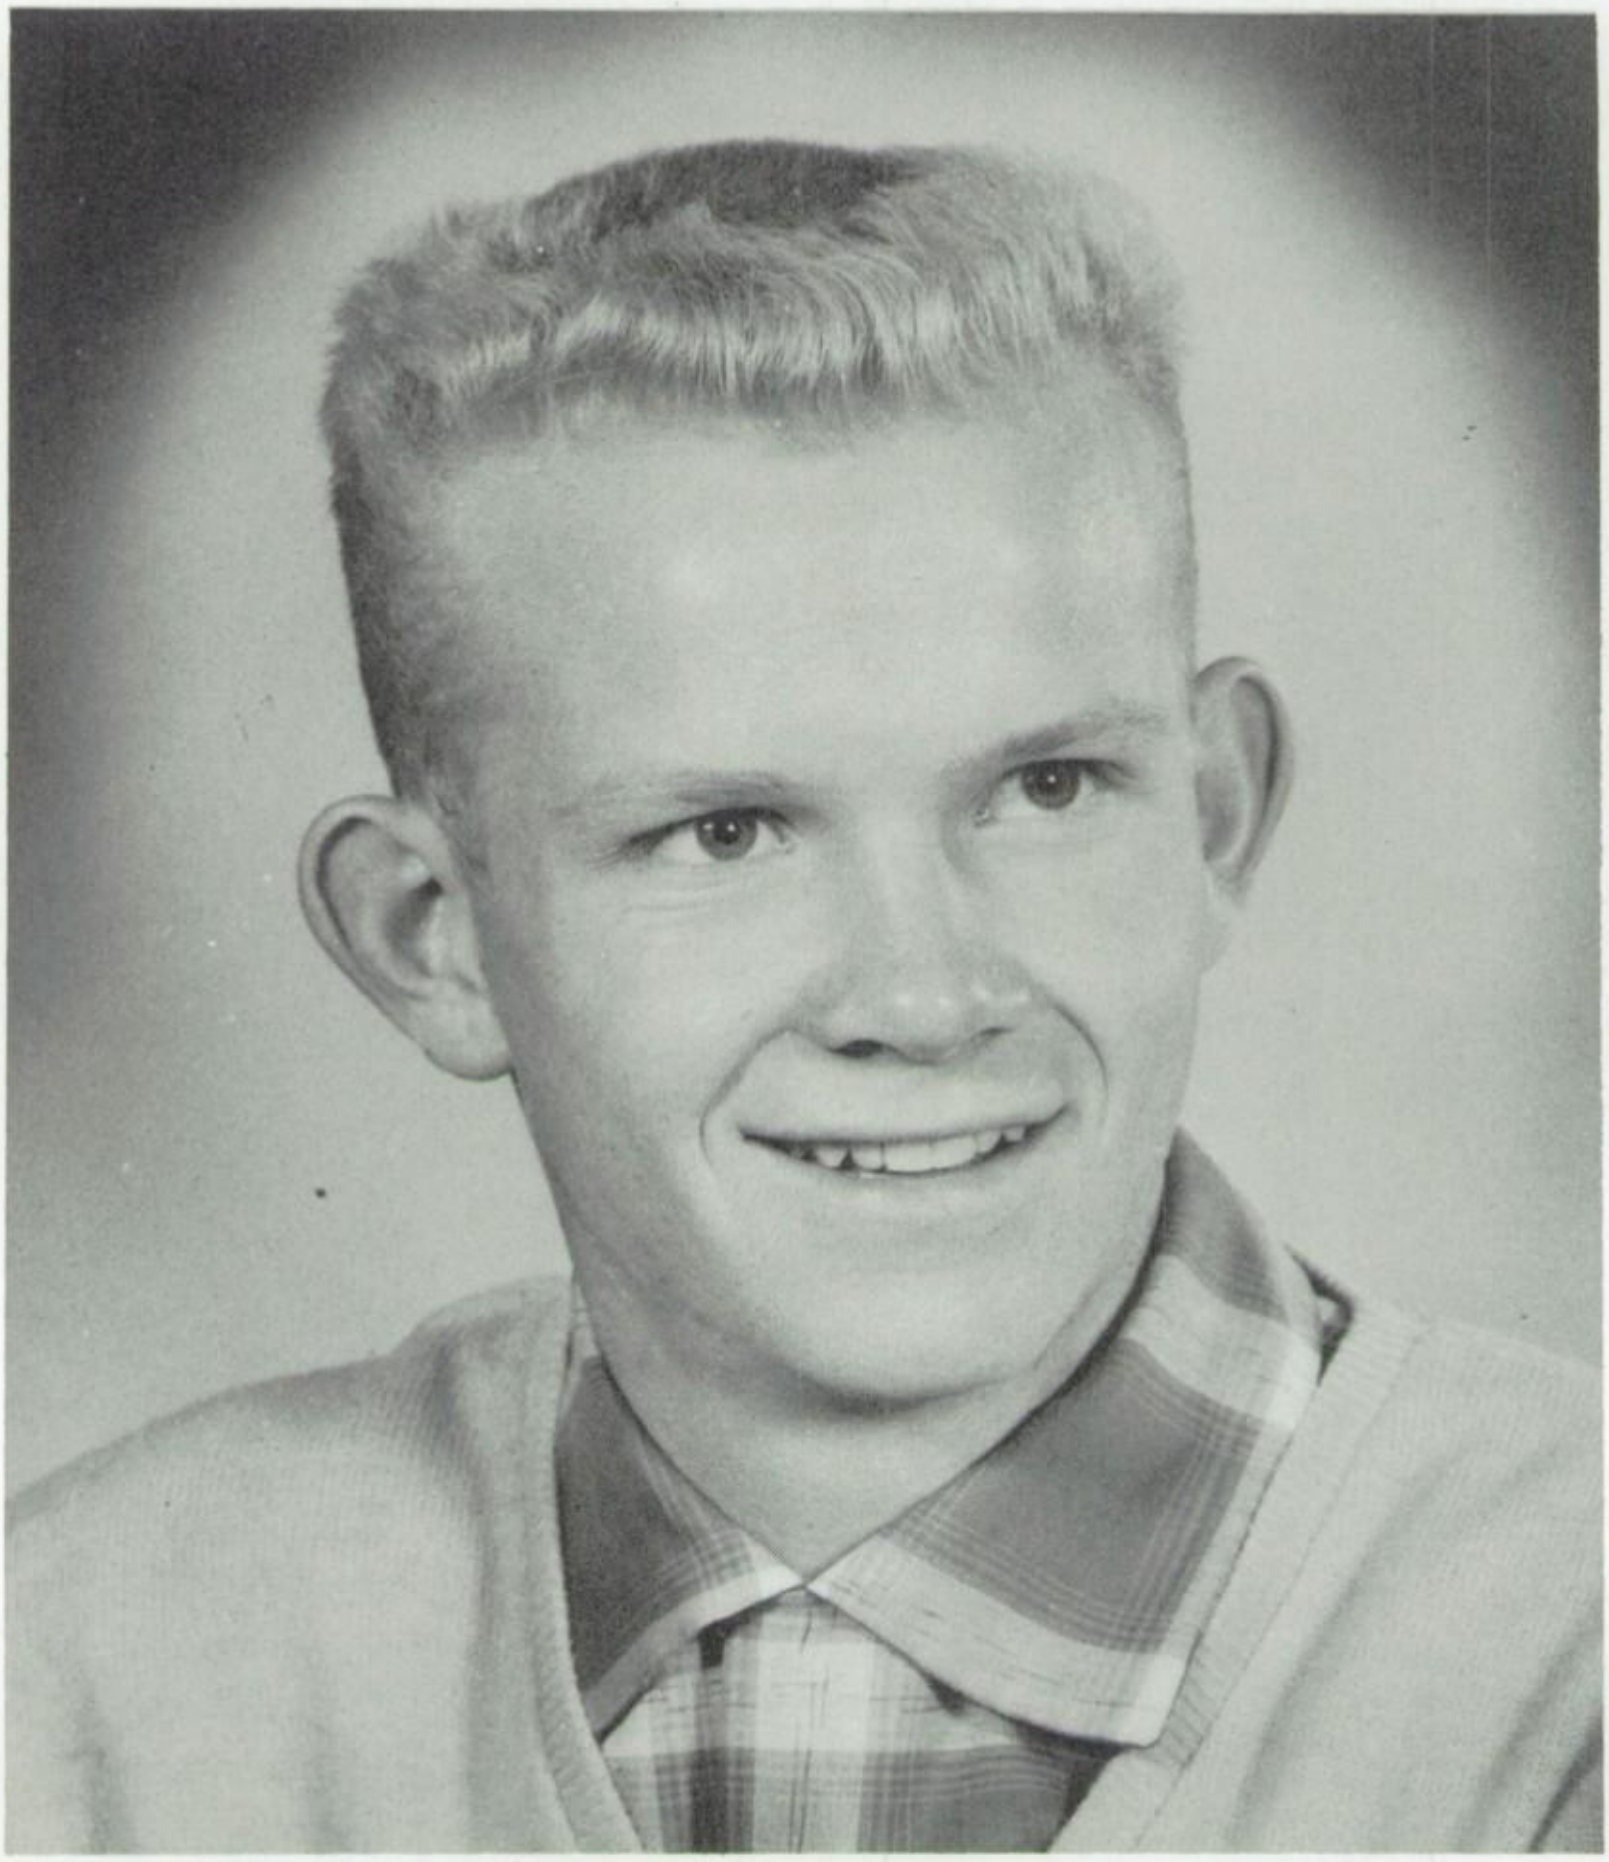
Student Leaders

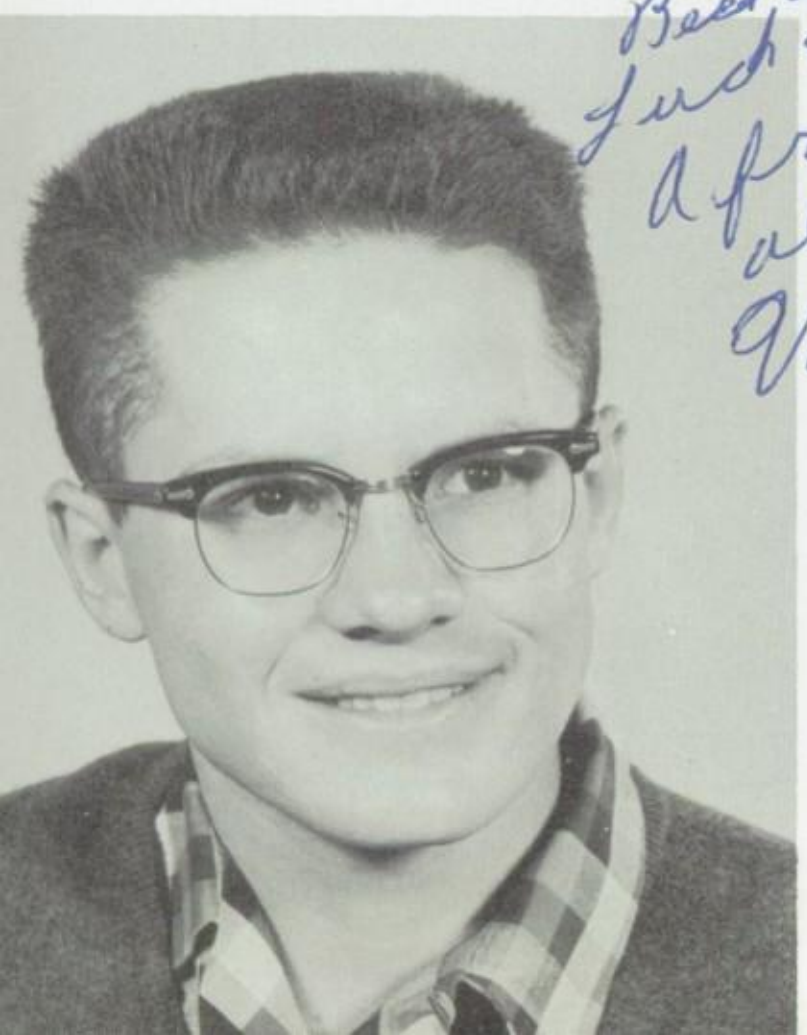


An athlete and guide, president Sherrell Berrett had our respect. We absorbed his initiative and dependability. We valued his actions and decisions which helped us through a dramatic year. The leading member of a quintet that couldn't miss, Sherrell harmonized with the leadership of Ann, Connie, Peggy, and Van.

With a flair for captivating friendliness and unlimited energy Ann Blackett led as vice president.

Diminutive Connie Crane justified our choosing her as student body secretary by keeping records efficiently.

Recording an eventful year in print and pictures, Peggy Parker served as school historian.



Conducting impartial trials and prescribing necessary punishments were the duties of the judge, Van Lindsay.

Court

Clerk Sunnie Nelson and reporter Afton Nelson relax after a busy court session.

Second associate judge Don Bateman, judge Van Lindsay, and first associate judge Nile Beckstead compare court procedures.

Council

Home room representatives linked individual classes with officers directing the student body. We voted for or against proposed assemblies, dances, or pep rallies. Desires and petitions of us students were presented in council meetings for faculty and officers' council approval. Through representation each student was given an opportunity to participate in governing. "With gratitude . . . and in an honest endeavor to prepare ourselves . . . to fulfill our responsibilities as citizens of this country, we, the students of Jordan High School . . . ," upheld our constitution and did our part in student government.

Resolutions were adopted by officers' council members Kent Allsop, Raymond Yasukochi, Keith Stepan, Ida Mortensen, and Kent Walker, to be presented to class representatives. They worked hand in hand with the student council in considering student problems.

STUDENT COUNCIL: ROW 1 — Dennis Woodward, Glade Crosgrove, Joe Brklacy, Orval Dorius, David Newman, Jay Workman, Stanley Butler. Seniors face decisions

The traditions we experienced and the goals we realized at Jordan left us with mixed feelings as we prepared for graduation as the class of '57. We eagerly anticipated a new manner of life, yet vaguely felt as if we were being pushed from familiar surroundings. Many things had given us pleasure: the Senior Hop, friendships, and mastering subject matter. Our growth was manifold. We began to show maturity as we counted our credits in contemplation of graduation, flashed engagement rings, studied college catalogs, or joined the reserves. In spite of the determination to succeed in our plans, we wondered if we were ready to face the world.

Juniors have moments to remember

We were caught up in the medley of school activites, often confused, but always seeking group acceptance. We began to understand ourselves. Our appreciation of school life and friends grew. The anticipation of the Junior Prom highlighted our year. We were engrossed by "Elvis" and "underslungs." We screamed our school spirit at the basketball games. Our creativeness yearned for an opportunity to display itself in an assembly. We patiently waited for the time we could order our senior rings, participated in elections for the coming year, and looked forward to the day when we could check our books in and say goodbye to another school year.

Recalling formulas and symbols, Dennis Neilsen and Leon Oldham experiment in the chemistry lab.

Sophomores

KENT WALKER
President

SHIRLEY GREENWOOD
Secretary

CHARLENE CUTLER
Vice President

Upperclassmen marveled at the foresight of the neophyte sophomores when they chose Kent, Charlene, and Shirley to direct them in the ways of the red and gray. As officers, they helped their class to avoid frustration while gaining dignity.

Sophomores make their debut

Initiation Day left us with few casualties and more respect for upper classmen. By mid-term we began to feel like full fledged Jordanites, although some of us were still asking "Where's Mr. Taylor's office?" or "How can I find the music room?" Our greeness showed as we crammed for exams in a last attempt to avoid failure, exercised a half-hearted effort to reach the classroom before the tardy bell rang, and tried our best to be included in activities. Our J Books are now dogeared; we have acquired a reverence for Jordan's traditions; and we can proudly show an impressive record which we earned as individuals and as a class.

Messiah

More than two hundred student voices combined to render the annual presentation of Handel's sacred oratorio, "The Messiah." This was the fourteenth successive rendition under the capable direction of conductor J. Clement Crapo. Talents of alumni were displayed by soloists Kenley Whitlock, Leland Matthews, and Janet Gammell.

Taking a curtain call following the presentation of the Messiah are the thirty-five piece orchestra and one hundred and eighty-six member chorus.

Music

Musical appreciation was not limited to the school's band and orchestra. Those who felt the beat grouped into pep bands, dance bands, or combos. Festivals featuring vocal and instrumental virtuosos were other outlets for suppressed desires and hidden talent. There was adventure for every desire, popular, bop, long hair, or rock and roll. High aspirations prompted some students to choose music as a career; but most were content to use their abilities pursuing the beauty and satisfaction of music as hobbies. Activities for every type of interest were found in the realm of music.

Entering the region contest as a brass sextet are Gerald Giauques, Bonnie Marchant, Robert Jensen, Eddie Pond, Nikki Labrum, and Nathan Anderson.

Orchestra

While striving to learn new techniques and arrangements, the forty piece orchestra enjoyed considerable progress. Exploration of various types of music raised standards of music appreciation. Directing orchestral activities was Mr. Emery G. Epperson, former music supervisor for the Jordan School District. Accompaniment for the Messiah was furnished by this group. They also presented concert programs at Jordan High, Midvale Junior High, and Bingham High.

Expressive hands of Mr. Epperson unify individual musical tones to produce concerted harmony.

ORCHESTRA: ROW 1 — Linda Robison, Zerita Hardy, Barbara Webb, Carlin Jacobson, Chad Beckstead, Stanley Stott, Van Anderson, Vincent Miles, David Newman, Emmanuella Koncurat, Deon Garfield. ROW 2 — Emery Epperson, conductor; Rick Spratling, Charles Allsop, Janet Finlayson, Sherwood Miles, Dolores Pedro, Milo Pearson, VaLayne Anderson, Elna Thomson, Linda Olsen.

Pick, strum, or bow, Charles Graham, Orin Palmer, and Tony Delgado get the "most" from bass viols.

Blend notes of Grant Hurst's bassoon, a cello, and a violin; add enthusiasm; the result is "The Chocolate Soldier."

Apparently it doesn't take two to tango, surmize Stephen Gold and Wayne Cowley as Judy Brown is dismissed by Daniel Boskovich.

Precision and timing are exhibited by Jackie Hall, Linda Larson, Sandra White, JoAnn Farnsworth, and Mary Lynn Klotovich.

Traveling assembly

This year's traveling assembly "Ready To Go" was written by talented Karma Russell. The sixty total members of the cast worked fast so that they would be ready for their premiere on December 5 at the Parents and Sons' Night Out. Other performances were at the Sandy P-T.A., Olympus, Murray, Cyprus, and Tooele High Schools, as well as the two other performances at Jordan. The production revolved around the Shangri-la Travel Agency as it made preparations to embark on one of its famous tours. Many of the cast members were given an opportunity to perform on KTVT's "Citizens '61."

With self-accompaniment, Texas harmonizers, JoAnne Kynaston and Michael Andreason, blend voices in "Singing the Blues."

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN: Mary Watts, Edna Burr, Mr. Boberg, Lowell Mortensen, Miss Kirton, Emalie Bastian, Mr. Sharp, and Wayne Cowley.

Vocalizing on "Raisin' Cain Down in Ole Kentucky," Sunnie Nelson captures audience plaudits.

Flying fingers of cousins Robert and Val Peterson bring out the cadence of the rhythmic "Lady of Spain."

STAGE HANDS: Director, Miss Zieve; student director, Dorene Richards; property man, Glen Fitzgerald; and prompter, Nadine Nielsen.

Dramatics is not the only field in which Sharon Swenson excels; her artistic talent appears as she grays Roger Stevenson's hair.

"Time Out For Ginger" was the three act comedy selected for Jordan thespians. Ginger's determination for gridiron success, and her father's sympathy resulted in hilarious confusion. Ginger was eagerly supported by her parents and Lizzie, the maid. Her sisters, on the other hand, felt disgraced. Directed by Miss Betty Zieve, the ten member cast pointed out that football is anyone's game.

Relaxing after a session of Beetdigger planning are E. L. Crawford and Wanda Wade, financial advisors; Mel Berrett, editorial advisor; and Murray Allen, photography advisor.

Enlarging a picture are photographers Doris Roos and Dean Fife, who developed, contacted, and printed over four thousand pictures for the "Beetdigger".

Sports editor Kent Hughes explains to secretaries Bonnie Christian and Marilyn Beckstead how football captions must be typed.

Beetdigger

The editor worried, the advisor fumed, and the staff goofed. Picture-taking schedules interrupted classes and irritated teachers. Copy was garbled, often too short or too long. Pictures were either mismatched with their captions or had none at all. Fundamentals of layout, good photography, fine art, and copy writing had to be learned. Hours of polishing and perfecting led to deadline day. The work was arduous and plentiful, but there was still time for pleasure. We learned to live on hamburgers, went without sleep, and suffered abuse; we loved it. Bypassers scratched their heads when they saw the jumble in the yearbook room. Parents soon realized that they should expect us only when they saw us coming. The cooperation and friendships we had while recording the events of '57 were rich experiences.

the truth about th

Twelve times during the year Broadcaster staff workers faced those "Deadline Blues." Two of the papers were two page editions; six more were four pages in size; and the remaining four had six pages. Two page inserts also came from the Riverton Junior High and West Jordan Junior High schools who did not have a printed paper of their own. Along with the duties required in keeping school news up to date, Broadcaster members edited our handy directory, the "J" Book. They also sponsored three district journalism conferences. Exhibit week for the district schools, April 22-26, was also under their direction. Other duties of this ambitious staff included attending all Utah college press conferences and giving aid in publishing and editing other district papers.

roofreaders' marks are pointed out by Broadcaster advisor, liss Rawson, to Afton Nelson, associate editor.

Salt Lake Tribune columnist Dan Valentine is a featured guest of the journalism conference for Jordan district schools.

Originality of staff members brought about a completely different Courier. Short stories, themes, and poems were submitted by students and English teachers. Creative abilities in students were far from being scarce. Literary items were sorted, read, and then reread before final approval was made for publication.

Courier

Interesting layouts in previous Couriers are shown by Joyce Robertson to Maureen Shepherd, Irene Nystrom, and Grant Hurst.

'J' book

Compilation and research are contributed by "J" Book staff members Eileen Johnson, Dennis Green, Karma Russell, Grace Endo, and Afton Nelson.

Selections of pictures for the Courier are made by assistant editors Irene Nystrom, Maureen Shepherd, Maurice Wells, and Mr. Hendrickson, advisor.

Demand of "J" Books exceed supply but ready cash enables Nell Olson to gain one of the informative periodicals.

The "J" Book, handy directory which contained student names, addresses, and telephone numbers, was our constant companion. Edited by the Broadcaster staff and the student body officers, the book also contained a calendar of events, a sports roster, a list of club officers, and the school constitution.

Speech Activities

ick Spratling demonstrates a portion of his pantomime as Vayne Cowley rehearses his radio speech.

UMOROUS READINGS: Helen Egbert, Linda Peterson, Myrna ndbebrg, Jean Carrol, and Judy Larson.

ORATORS: Janet Dahl, MelRae Bateman, Janeal Barben, Judy O'Keefe, and Marcia Mitchell.

Speech students learned the importance of correct diction and enunciation. They memorized orations and readings and rehearsed for various contests. Other interests were humorous readings, radio speeches, pantomimes, story telling, and dramatics.

Forensic participation was another speech activity. Many of the students who had participated in debate took part in oratory, extemporaneous speaking and legislative forum. Both speech and forensic participants entered the Regional Festivals at Olympus and Cyprus. Those who received a certain rating were able to attend the State Meet at the Brigham Young University.

EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKERS: Margie Osborne, Sharon Estepp, Sheryl Ashman, Janice Jenkins, and Lynn Gaufin.

ndra White and Ida Mortensen discuss plans for eir trip to the State Legislative Forum and Senate.

LEGISLATIVE FORUM — HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES: Vicki Lester, Irene Nystrom, and Ann Blackett.

Debaters

Opinions were voiced by debaters who pointed out the advantages or disadvantages of farm subsidies. From three debate classes came eight senior, ten junior, and fourteen sophomore teams. Ten teams were sent to the Weber College Invitational Debate Tournament. At the Regional Debate Tournament, eight of our teams entered competition. Four teams were sent to the State Forensic Tournament.

Joe Baker is warned to "type those notes for the region debates correcly," by Wayne Sabey, Maurice Wells, and Van Lindsay.

Interesting information is discovered in clippings by Jay Stevens and Judy Bunnell, regional meet debaters.

Pondering over problems arising from students' eating in the auditorium are Bob Day, secretary; Phillip Rosenhan, vice president; and Mr. Allen, advisor.

A desire for good citizenship and good sportsmanship permeated the club. Members worked at improving relationships between students and teachers. They co-sponsored the Thanksgiving Party. Parents became their special guests for the annual Parents and Sons' Night Out.

Discussing forthcoming Girls' Club activities are JoAnn Olsen, Miss Goff, Miss Munns, Darla Beckstead, and Mrs. Wood.

First prize for a "lamb cake" at Fathers and Daughters' is awarded to Linda Ballamis and her father.

Girls club

Girls took pride in entertaining their parents on their Fathers' and Daughters' night and again on their Mothers' and Daughters' night. They also sponsored the Stocking Stomp and the Senior Reception. The officers initiated a new activity into the club when they obtained speakers for the senior, junior, and sophomore group talks. Every girl who was registered at Jordan was a member of the Girls' Club.

Charlonians

"Oh, you Beetdiggers," yelled energetic Charlonians. Not only did this pep club add its voices to our cheering section, but it also entertained us during half time at football and basketball games. Visiting pep groups partook of Jordan hospitality at the afternoon teas which were sponsored by the club. In December they presented their assembly, "Square, Square World." Members also gave to a needy family at Christmas time. Their various activities also included marching on Band Day and holding a formal spring dance. The Charlonians honored their senior members at a special breakfast.

Deca

Salesmanship and distribution methods were demonstrated to Jordan members of the Distributive Education Clubs of America. This organization provided background information for students who sought employment in these fields. Selling refreshments at football games and sponsoring a sub-for-Santa project were among the activities of this state and national affiliate. Each year DECA members hold a spring party at a local resort or canyon.

Future Engineers

Young men interested in various phases of engineering, science, dentistry, and medicine belonged to the Future Engineers Club. The club's purpose was to maintain our country as a free nation by alleviating shortages of trained personnel. Committees were formed by grouping members according to their interests. Each group was responsible for obtaining one speaker from industry or higher education. A field trip was made to the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Members also found it profitable to work on experiments and demonstrations in order to better equip themselves for positions ahead.

Memorization of orations, and roles in major and minor plays kept members engrossed in speech activities. It was worth while, they found, as they participated in the Weber Invitational Forensic Meet and Regional and State Forensic Meets. They strove to promote speech in school and also in their communities. A one act play, "Adam's Rib Hurts," was presented at the P-T.A.'s Founders' Day meeting. At the school play "Time Out For Ginger," which was sponsored by the club, many members acted as ushers. They saw some of the accomplishments of other speech enthusiasts when they attended plays at Murray High School and the University of Utah. In the fall, the club had an initiation and party. Officers for next year were installed at the spring banquet.

F. H. A.

Girls enrolled in economic classes were invited to be members of the F.H.A. During the year their activities included: selling UNESCO stamps, working on a Civil Defense program, sponsoring the Sweethearts' Ball, and the annual Spring Party.

Values of neatness and efficiency are learned by future homemakers Colleen Walker, Sharon Bishop, and Linda Olsen.

Invitations to the Sweethearts' Ball are penned by officers and advisors, Miss Henderson, Ann Butterfield, Miss Goff, Klea Varanakis, Jolene Cox.

FUTURE TEACHERS: ROW 1 — Ann Blackett, Irene Nystrom, Rosemary Jensen, Judy Zafft, MelRae Bateman, Janet Stepan, Milo Pearson. ROW 2 — Carolyn Evans, Maureen Shepherd, Mary Jane Brady, Grace Endo, Bette Adams, LaPriel Tuttle, Clara Mae Peterson. Future teachers

The Jordan Student Education Association, an affiliate of the Future Teachers' Clubs of America, was reorganized this year. Originally organized in 1939, the club was disbanded in 1941. This club desired to acquaint its members with the various phases of teaching. One of their goals was to place each member of the club in student teacher positions in some of the elementary schools in the district. Among the club's various social functions was an intra social with other clubs of the state.

Quill scroll

Quill and Scroll, an international organization for high school journalists, stressed service to the student body and the community. Students who achieved recognition in journalism were allowed membership if they had had at least seventy-five column inches of written work printed in a school or commercial publication. These members conducted the club through its eighth year.

Language club

Irresistable challenges were attached to learning a language. Pupils studying French and Spanish eagerly compared their progress at club meetings.

Language club officers and advisors are Craig Rasmussen, Mary Watts, Irma Rae Vawdrey, Linda Ballamis, Mr. Boberg, and Miss Fraser.

Radio club

Members of a comparatively new organization, our ham radio clubmen obtained amateur radio licenses and made portable stations.

Contacting another radio station are radio club officers Roy Stuart, Russell Schneider, and Dale Frandsen.

Press club

The Press Club helped to promote student interest in journalism. This club, along with the student body officers, sponsored the Jordan High directory, the "J" Book. Members attended an annual press conference at the University of Utah last fall, and the Rocky Mountain Journalism Conference at the BYU. Tours were taken to the Salt Lake Tribune and KSL-TV.

Observing the dummy layout for a future Broadcaster are Press Club officers and advisor, Eileen Johnson, Miss Rawson, Sharon Taylor, Larry Etherington, and Wayne Sabey.

Three time loser, Dennis Farmer allows Sheri Aaron and Roy Burton to autograph his skiing trophy.

Ski club

Promoting the exciting winter sport, skiing, was the self-assigned duty of all enthusiastic Jordan skiers. The club organized a team which raced in several events, including the Knudsen Cup races in which they took fourth place. Social events of the club were their annual party at Alta, and a date party.

ROW 2 — Judy Bunnell, Dixie Butterfield, JoAnn Kynaston, Van Lindsay, Sandra White, Janice Jenkins. ROW 3 — Ray Brenneman, Randall Rathjen, Wayne Sabey, Joe Baker, Maurice Wells.

Forensic league

The National Forensic League was organized to help stimulate activities in debate, extemporaneous speaking, oratory, and legislative forum. The club's membership was restricted; only those who received a required rating achieved in various speech activities were allowed to join. The Jordan chapter of the N.F.L. combined with the Masque and Gavel Club for an honor banquet each year. Certificates of achievement were given to members. The awards were based on the number of points each member had accumulated in activities.

Ideal methods of filing debate information are shown to Maurice Wells, president; Rosemary Jensen, secretary; and Mr. Goldbranson, advisor; by Carolyn Evans, vice president.

Dance club

Color, grace, rhythm, and fantasy characterized the La Dancers' Club. The traveling assembly included creative dances by members who were their own choreographers. Line dancers were invited to display their talents on television. Spotlights focused on the La Dauncers for the Senior Hop and Harvest Ball floorshows. The Mothers and Daughters' Night Out and the Parents and Sons' Night Out were spiced with original creations by the club.

Jordan's Debutantes started their year with the annual candle lighting ceremony initiation and turkey dinner. The girls looked forward to the club date party in November and made certain their beaux were lined up in advance. A needy family was happily surprised at Christmas time when officers and advisors of the club went to their door heavily laden with gifts, food, and money, which had been donated by club members. The Yuletide season also gave the J. D.'s an opportunity to spread cheer as they visited the county infirmary. April brought the climax of J. D. activities when the club sponsored the Dog Patch Drag.

"We're from Jordan and we couldn't be prouder!" Pepsters practice one of their cheer routines before a pep assembly.

Cheer

Nimble leaders boosted our anticipation of the games by arranging exciting pep assemblies. Fired up by the enthusiasm of Shirley, Sharon, Carolyn, Floyd, Richard, and Fred, the student body unified its spirit at the football and basketball games. Whether in victory or defeat, we boasted a top rate cheering section led by a dynamic six.

Football

Our strained throats and their aching muscles weren't enough to keep us from the cellar. We were down, but deep. Yell as we did, drive as the team could, still only one touchdown was pushed over against league opposition. We totaled only one win, a pre-season over Box-Elder. Our record was one of heartbreaks and disappointments, but we were proud of our team.

Coach Hughes' dismally small group of J. V. turfsmen was hampered by the lack of substitutes. An unimpressive record of five losses and no wins gives only feeble promise of strengthening next year's varsity team.

Sophomores received a greater share of fortune than did their big brothers. The fledglings recorded five wins and three losses in close games. They defeated Bingham, Highland and Granite by one point margins, but lost to Murray and West by one point.

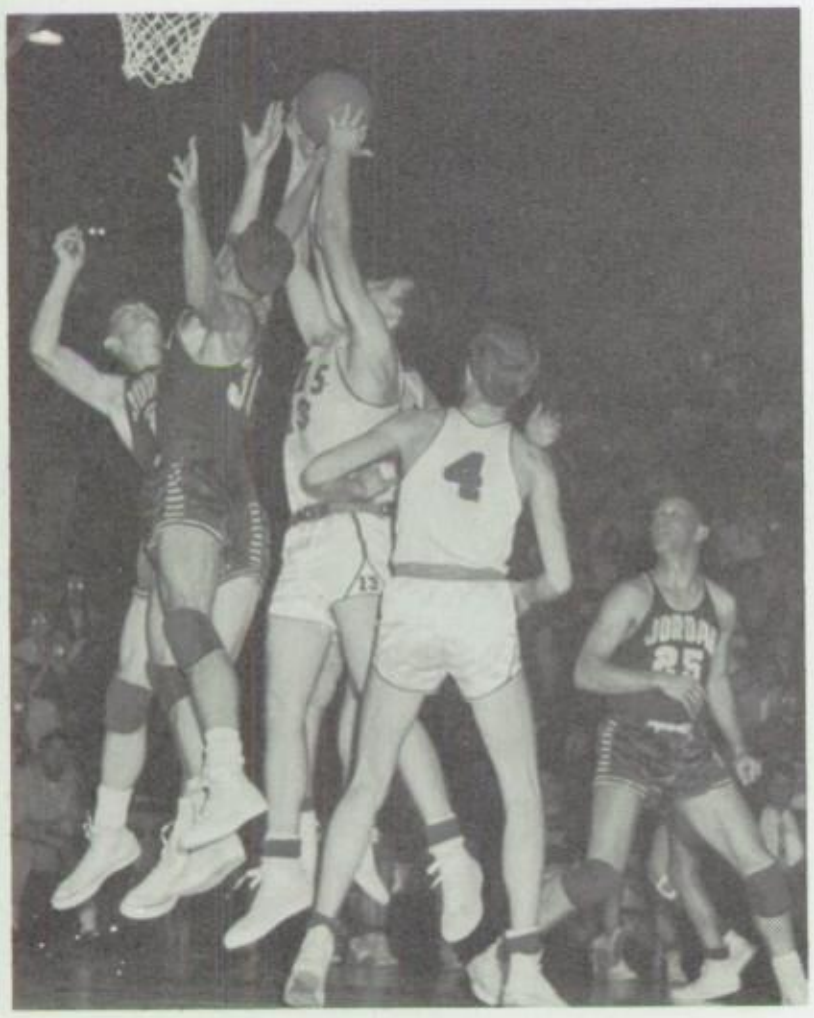
From the Keyhole

There was a falling of the giants this year as Jordan was toppled from state title contentions. The Red and Grey had been ranked number one in the state. Despite the loss, two of the team won all-state selections; and the other three of the starting five were honored by all-region positions.

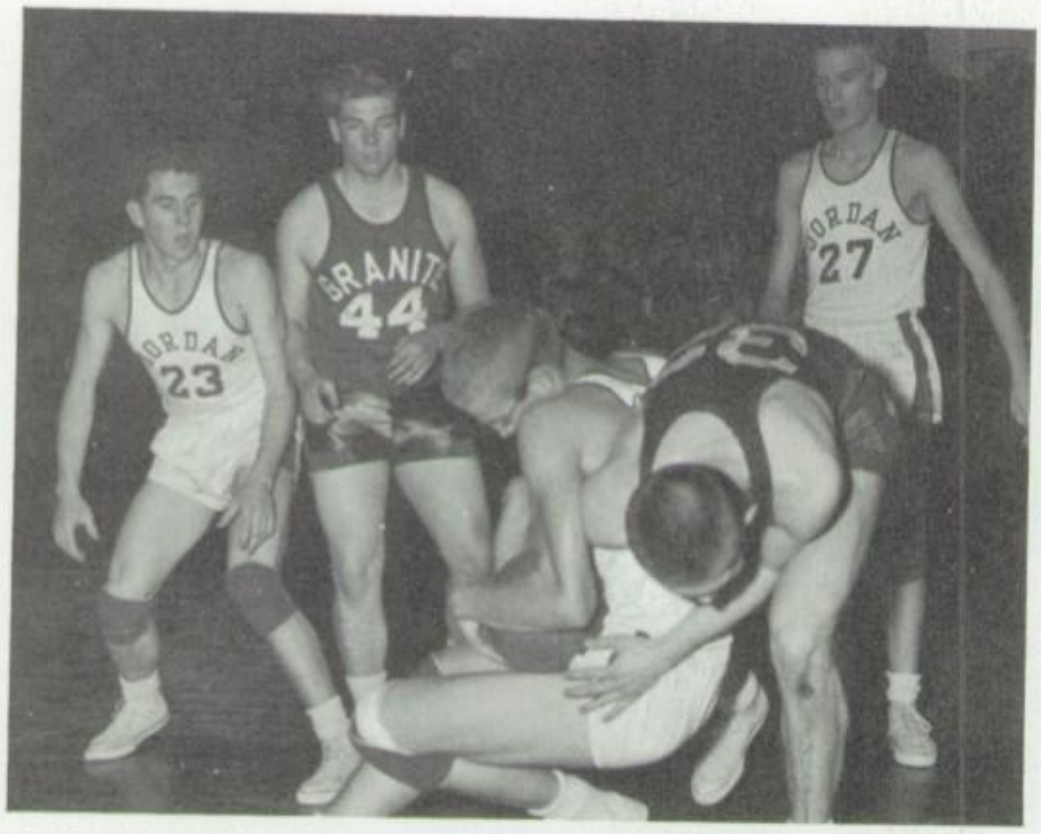


John Pollard and Gary Howlett take to the air to rebound from Springville as Gene Kiholm moves in.

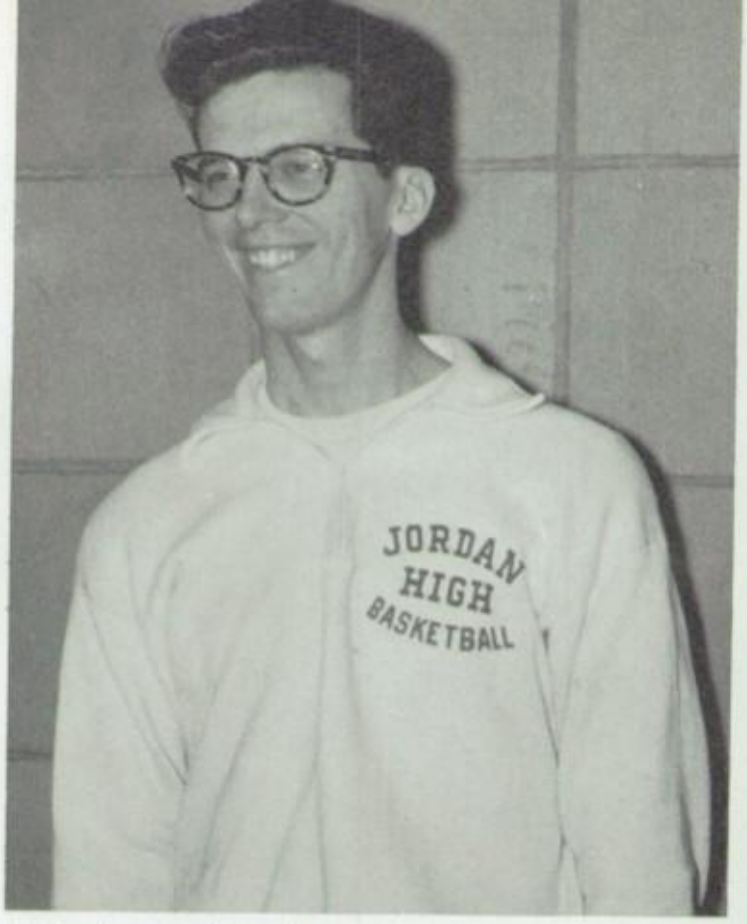
Positioning for the rebound during the Logan thriller are Jordan's Gene Kiholm (25), Gary Howlett (30), Mark Miller (31), and Sherrell Berrett (20).

Del Kidd (24) scores two during tournament action against Orem, with Clifford Goff (27), Val Smith (21), and Mike Bullett (23) coming in to back him up.

Out-jumping Provo is Mark Miller, as Keith Stepan, Gene Kiholm and David Anderson wait for the tip.



Flanked by Mike Bullett and Clifford Goff, David Anderson goes to the floor struggling with Granite players for possession of the ball.



Returning to his alma mater, Sherman Crump racked up a top first year as Junior Varsity Coach.

Junior Varsity

Coach Sherm Crump kept the junior varsity team in the top bracket this year, tieing with Tooele and South for first place. During the last three years, the Jordan J. V. teams have won thirty-two consecutive games and three J. V. crowns. This team should assist next year's varsity squad toward another state title.

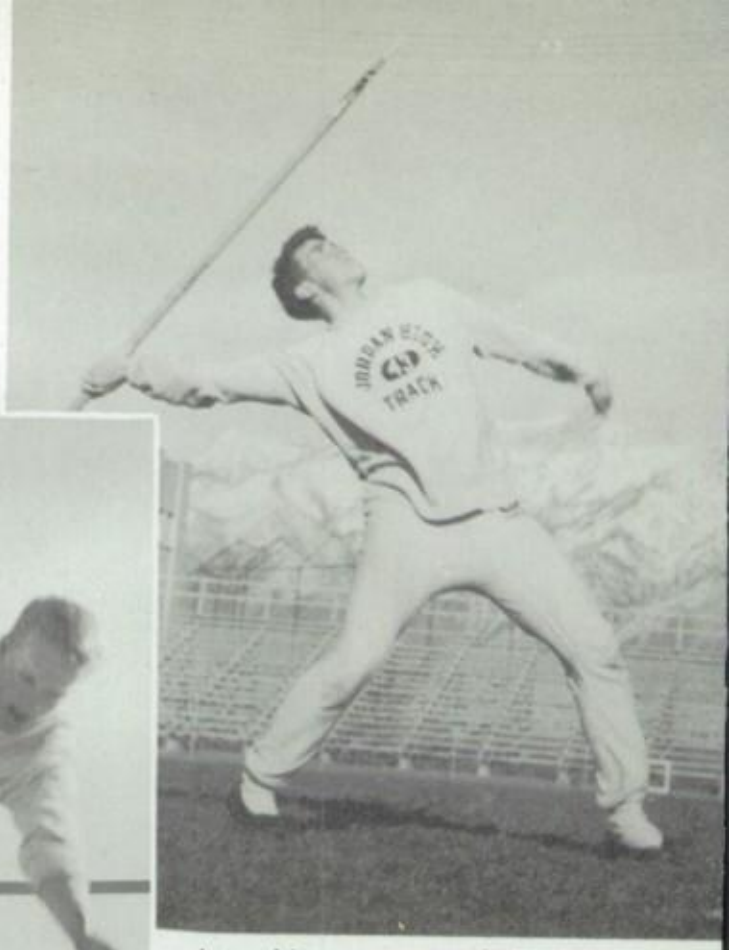
Coaches "Tuff" Linford and Robert Teran collaborated to bring home the best record the sophs have achieved for several years.

Sophomore

Keeping up with the J.V.'s and Varsity, the sophs also took first place in the region. Starting out with a close loss to Highland in their first game, they ended the season with a nine win, two loss record.

Exchanging the baton, Curtis Cook sends Eddie Pond on his lap of the 880 yard relay.

With plenty to spare, Reynold Johnson clears the cross bar while perfecting his form.



Launching a powerful javelin throw is Brent Price, weightman and sprinter.

TRACK TEAM: ROW 1 — Byard Price, Kenny Smart, Kendall Voyce, Frank Lessley, Dennis Woodward, Gary Fullmer, Emmett Lessley, Leslie Holt. ROW 2 — Gail Burkinshaw, Jay Mounteer, Raymond Brenneman, Clare Wardle, Brent Price, Mike Heinecke, Russell Larson, Melvyn Heaps, Dennis Green, manager; Eugene Webb. Correct form for high and low hurdles is of constant concern to Kendall Voyce and Russell Larson.

Cold winds and snow hampered the thinclads at early season. Jordan fell to East but came out ahead of Bountiful in a triangular meet on March 29. Then Jordan topped Murray 92 to 48. As the yearbook went to press, Jordan looked promising. Robert Teran replaced coach Ray Oliverson, who moved to Murray. Coach Teran developed exceptional talent in the 880 relay, javelin throw, shot put, mile run, and the hurdles.

Employing both speed and height, Bill Mitchell seeks a record in the broad jump.

Track

Pointing, coach Teran tells the way of placing starting blocks to managers Ralph Muir, Clyde Williams, and Eugene Webb.

Tennis

Netmen opened the season against South on April 11. Jordan's previous record isn't very impressive, but after hours of rallying, lobbing, and serving practice, the team was optimistic over a good season. Coach Linford reported a large turnout of hopefuls for the squad.

DANCE CLASS MANAGERS: FRONT — Sharon Lennberg, Judy Larson, LaPriel Tuttle. BACK — Joan Grant, Maxine Anderberg, Lucille Markus, Gay Sheppick, JoAnn Wheadon.

Getting into condition took considerable exercising and stretching. Aching bones and sore muscles futilely cried for respite from daily practice. When it was apparent that dancers were going to survive, proceedures and techniques were started. There were instructions in proper form, grace, levels of movement, originality, creativeness, and choreography.

Flying pigtails and missing teeth are prominent in Judy Brady and Jolene Cox's "Tennessee Wig Walk."

Sports

"1; 2; 3; 4!" They were off to another hour of physical education, female style. During fall they played speedball, a combination of all games ever played, no holds barred.

Waiting for their colleagues to join them in a game of soft ball are Dot Withers, Connie Lovendahl, Olean Lund, and Jane Webster.

They enjoyed "wisket," a game of softball in which the ball is never touched with the hands, but caught and thrown with a wicker basket. The favored games during the winter were basketball, slaughter ball, shuffleboard, badminton, ping pong, and relays. Mrs. Whitmore and a few of her class helpers gave private dancing instruction to the boys. Rhythm and coordination were gained by those who participated in spring sports, softball, golf, tennis, and archery.

Emptying the equipment room, Jeanette Bills, Mary Campbell, and Jacklyn Oakeson head for the phys. ed. class.

Prize cakes suggesting dad's favorites were baked by Lynn Hensen, JoAn Kunz, and Janice Jenkins.

Fathers and daughters

It is common knowledge that most teen-age girls have parents wrapped around their little fingers. It didn't take much winding to persuade father to go to the Fathers and Daughters' party. Dad spruced up and told mother good night. There were prize cakes of all sizes and descriptions. Fathers loosened up and gave out some very surprising antics in the jitterbug contest. The girls were proud of their dates and hoped the feeling was mutual.

Gridiron capers

"Gridiron Capers" honored turfsmen. Hanging from the ceiling were paper footballs bearing the names of the football squad. Candy bars were awarded to anyone who was standing under a name when it was called.

Decorating for Gridiron Capers are Rosalie Brklacich, Floyd Mori, Van Lindsay, Gayle Jensen, Gale Webb Joe Baker, and Connie Ninomiya.

Royalties voted to reign over the Sweethearts' Ball as King and queen are popular Connie Lovendahl and Mike Ganz.

"Sweetheart Sonata" themed the annual FFA-FHA Sweethearts' Ball. Angel hair, draped and sprayed, was accented by colored lights. Napkins pushed into chicken wire created hedges. Enthusiastic workers hung pink and white crepe paper streamers. Orchestral strains had no sooner begun than the floor was graced by girls in satin and lace frills and boys in smart jackets.

Christmas dance

Santa came to visit Jordanites at their matinnee dance December 21. Last minute orders were placed. All the good girls and boys then received treats of candy and peanuts.

Stocking stomp

Have you ever seen such crazy, mixed up socks? Polkadots, stripes, bunny rabbits, and fluorescents pranced around the floor. Traffic signs were posted at various places, and those who violated them were pulled aside by a traffic cop. Penalties imposed were the wearing of a paper sack on the cranium or dancing with a broom.

Odd, different, even ridiculous, but still most appropriate! Yes, at the Stocking Stomp it's anything goes in the line of socks!

Thanksgiving dance

KMUR disc jockeys spun records for dancers at the Thanksgiving Dance. Their humor added to the festivities of the dance. Highlighting the afternoon entertainment was the turkey raffle.

Looking forward to the Thanksgiving holiday and anticipating those dates with Tom Turkey, Jordanites display their high spirits by dancing.

Pleased with his work, Floyd Mori sprays varnish on angel hair to make it permanent, while Linda Ballamis expresses approval.

Crossing a white bridge canopied by billowing clouds, couples discovered the enchantments of dreamland. Streamers of pink and white festooned the walls; everything was in heavenly readiness. Nestled snugly inside the Big Dipper was Jack Turner's orchestra. Refreshments were found at the planet Saturn. A galaxy of stars twinkled overhead. Touches of soft lights and music created a romantic atmosphere. It was the "Prelude to Dream".

A detour to the planet Saturn gives Sherryn Miller and James Estepp an opportunity for refreshments of cake and punch.

Senior hop

And then the senior class begat an inspiration for a creation. In the beginning was a committee, and the committee was the word of the seniors. From chicken wire, paper, wood, and hair a skeleton was raised. When darkness fell many heavenly people arrived to breathe life into the creation. The Senior Hop was born.

Seniors glide into dreamland amid a visionary setting.

Final touches to the refreshment booth are given by seniors Beth Proctor, Shirlene Beck, and Richard Nielsen.

Decorating for the prom has always been a favorite event for juniors. The entire class suggested themes for the committee's approval. When the theme was set and committees were appointed, juniors plunged in to make their dance one of the most outstanding of the year.

Bubbles rising from Davy Jones' locker fascinate Robert Jensen, Doris Lloyd, Jerry Hutchinson, and Jeannette Linnarz.

Displaying perfect formation as they promenade across the dance floor at the Junior Prom are members of the junior class.

Happiness lies beyond the reef as couples dance to the music of Neil Weight and his orchestra.

Last minute check of decorations is made by the committee heads, Mr. Brady, Mary Javaine, and Nile Beckstead.

Delicate souvenir bracelets filled the treasure chest. Davy Jones' locker was found to be misty and enchanting. Soft music by Neil Weight's orchestra came from the harbor, delighting dancers. There were pearls in every oyster. Sea creatures of every description were clustered about. The sounds of the sea echoed "Beyond the Reef."

World's middleweight champ, Gene Fullmer, and manager Marv Jensen, Jordan alumni, are welcomed at the special honor assembly.

Specials

The capture of fourth place in state class A basketball competition, the return of the middleweight champ, the advent of the Christmas season, the J. D. date party — each of these special events warranted a gala celebration.

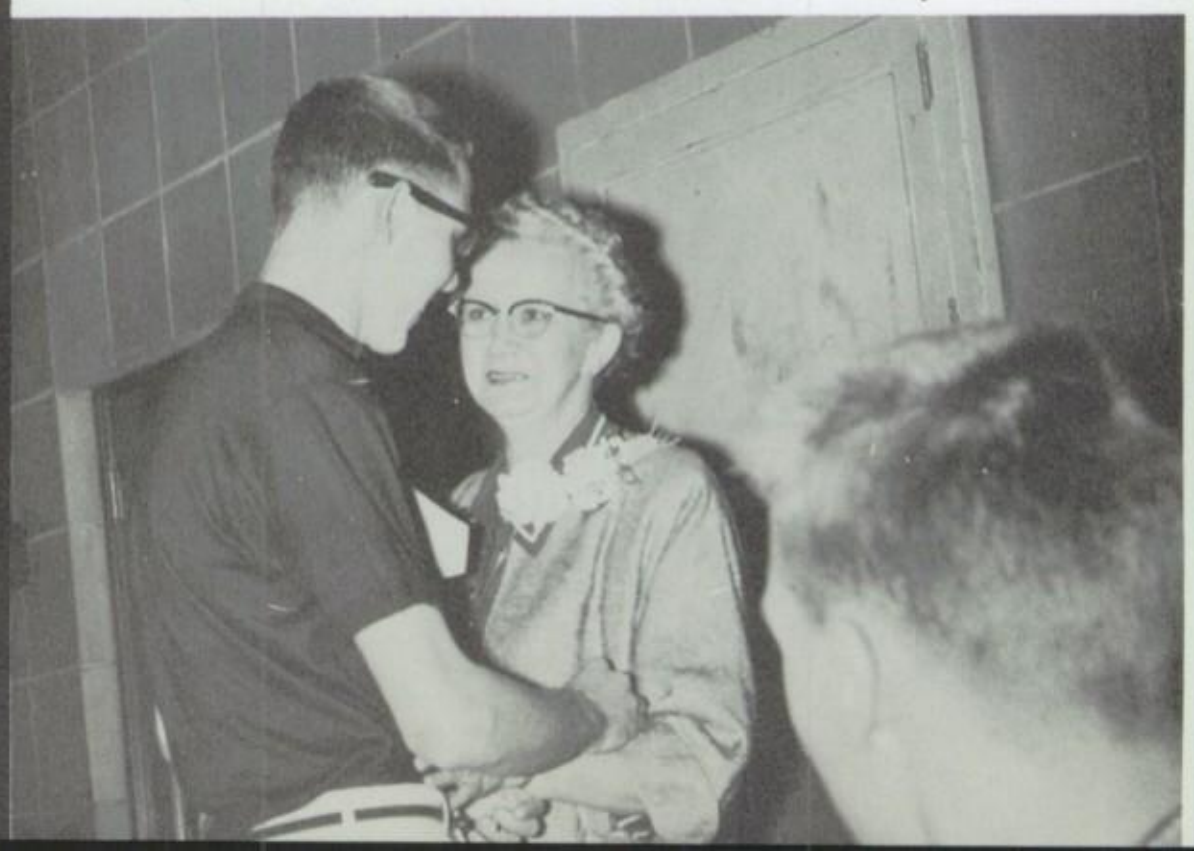
The Jay Dees step out with their guests to the yearly date party.

Proud smiles, an affectionate hug, and a corsage are given by Gary Howlett to his mother at the tournament assembly.



Songs, troupers, and scenes from New York's Central Park are brought to Jordan by the traveling assembly from Olympus.

Assemblies

The week never went by without relaxing entertainment. Exchange programs from other schools cemented friendships. Jordan students produced talent shows. The state's universities entertained us. Officers hired paid performers from the National School Assemblies Association.

Rhythm and harmony in the popular and classic songs of the "Mississippians" make them great favorites with Jordanites.

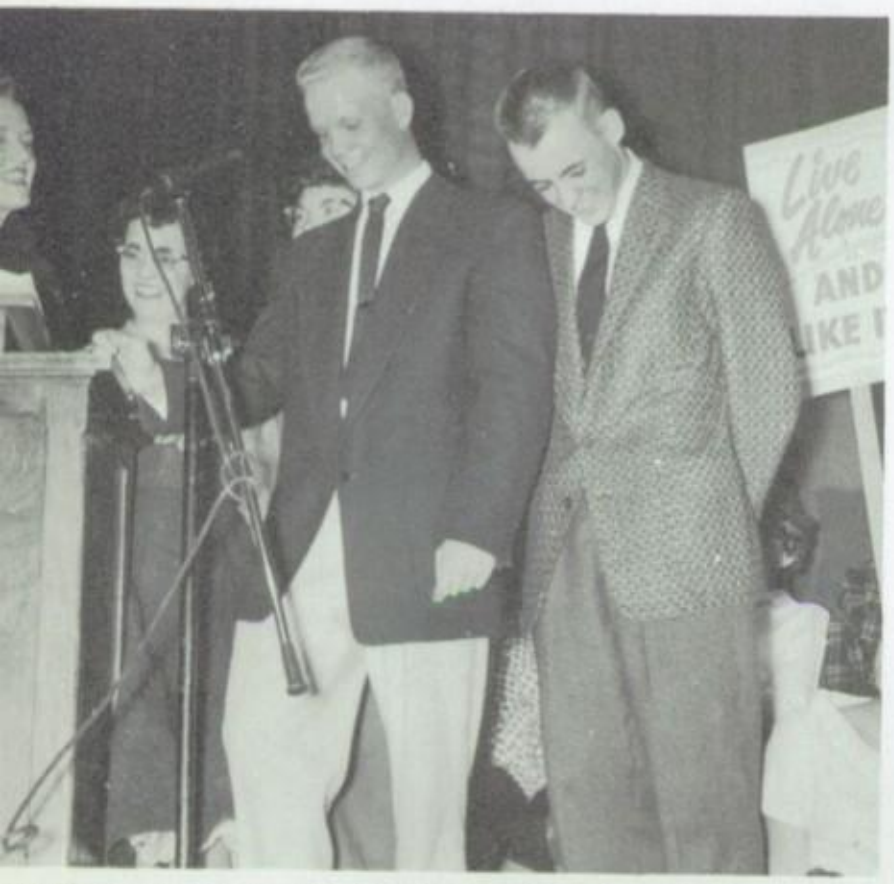
The antics of this fallen angel thoroughly delight Jordanites in Murray's exchange assembly "Go to Hell!"

Putting their best selves forward are a group of Binghamites as they perform for an appreciative Jordan group.

Sandra White, getting first hand information about the field of beauty culture, finds career day enjoyable and profitable.

On Jordan "Hi" Day, artist Allen introduces Mr. Kunzler in such a way that the students will not soon forget his name or face.

Specials



At Elaine Cannon's "Seminar for Sallies," Sherrell Berrett and Richard Nielson reveal candid opinions about the habits of girls.

Old grads, Will Erickson and Mary Howlett, "come home" to sing self-composed songs during the alumni day assembly.

Years from now your memories of high school might be only brief recollections of faces, buildings, anxieties, and joys. They will stay with you like old refrains. Perhaps this book will serve to recall and reassemble your "Medley of Memories". The pictures, copy, and comments will bring back the school and you, as you were then. The people who have made your recollections easier by creating this book deserve an expression of appreciation. We wish to express our gratitude to Mel Berrett, our advisor; Murray Allen, Wanda Wade, E. L. Crawford, Bruce Thayne, Arval Nelson of the Midvale Camera Center, and Dean Wallin of Paragon Press for the friendly cooperation and helpful advice they gave the staff in editing the 1957 Beetdigger.

Hello Curt:
you're swell kid.
Take it easy this summer and don't ride too many horses.
Don't join the army either.
